

My phone is for my personal use wether it is my business or home phone. I pay the bills for that privilege. My state, Indiana, respects that and has given me the ability to protect myself from unsolicited telemarketers calls. Please do not pre-empt the wisdom of this state with less-restrictive laws. Business does not supercede an individual's right to privacy. Citizens are very capable of procuring goods and services on their own and should not have to tolerate invasive telemarketers if they so chose. Do not remove this choice. Thank you.
